THE NO DIG INDIA SHOW 2025

"Advancing Sustainable Urban Infrastructure through Trenchless Innovation"

As urban India rapidly expands, the integrity and efficiency of subsurface utility networks have never been more critical. The No-Dig India Show 2025, organized by the Indian Society for Trenchless Technology (IndSTT), highlights the urgent need to prioritize trenchless rehabilitation methods, while also advancing trenchless installation practices.

This year's focus is on trenchless rehabilitation technologies, which have become essential for addressing the aging infrastructure in India's cities. These methods offer a sustainable, non-invasive approach to renewing water, sewer, and gas pipelines—minimizing surface disruption, reducing environmental impact, and extending asset life with minimal downtime.

While rehabilitation remains the top priority, moderate-priority trenchless installations are also critical for developing future-ready cities. The show will explore cutting-edge techniques for faster, cleaner, and cost-efficient utility deployment, helping meet the demands of expanding urban populations.

A key highlight of the event will be the prestigious IndSTT Trenchless Excellence Awards, recognizing pathbreaking contributions to the advancement of trenchless technologies in India and beyond.

Through this international platform, IndSTT invites global experts, technology innovators, and Indian Subcontinent utility stakeholders to collaborate, exchange knowledge, and build the sustainable underground infrastructure of tomorrow.
